

Carlos A. Roldan is an attorney since 2002, member of the Colombian Bar Association and expert in International Law. In Colombia, he specialized in civil law, working later as litigator. In the public service, he was a legal officer from 2004 to 2007, as well as a human rights defender.

In 2014, this lawyer obtained his master degree in International Law at the University of Montreal, Canada. His thesis approaches the topic of the international instruments of justice in countries with armed conflict and particularly the case of Colombia.

Carlos is the vice-president of the American Association of Jurists, Canadian chapter, and is employed as specialist in International Law in a Canadian immigration law firm.

Carlos can communicate fluently in English, French and Spanish.